

Russia Calls for Big 4 Meeting On Eve of U. N. Berlin Session

LONDON, Monday, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Soviet government proposed today that the four-power ministers council be called to consider both the Berlin impasse and the entire German situation.

The proposal was contained in the Russian reply to the notes of the United States, Britain and France that broke off the Berlin crisis. The Moscow radio and newspaper here of the Soviet monitor.

The reply, described in the broadcast as the official version sent yesterday by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to the Western power governments, said:

"The United States government's declaration that a situation has arisen which allegedly threatens international peace and security, does not correspond with the real state of affairs and constitutes nothing more than a means of pressure and an attempt to use the United Nations for the achievement of its aggressive aims."

THE REPLY SAID that since the three Western powers declared in their Sept. 26, 1948, notes to Russia they were submitting the Berlin problem to the United Nations Fall meeting in Paris, "the government of the U. S. S. R. considers it is necessary to declare the following:

"The problem of the Berlin situation is closely connected with that of Germany as a whole, with the dismemberment of Germany, and with the creation of a separate government in Western Germany, and is subject in accordance with Article 107 of the United Nations charter to be settled by the governments responsible for the occupation of Germany and is not subject to submission to the Security Council."

The Soviet government, the note said, "proposes that the directive to the commanders-in-chief (of the occupation forces in Berlin) agreed on Aug. 30, should be recognized as an agreement between the governments of the U. S. S. R., the United States of America, Great Britain and France on the basis of which the situation in Berlin should be settled."

THAT DIRECTIVE to the Allied commanders-in-chief, the note said, was framed after Prime Minister Stalin proposed at the Moscow four-power meetings that the Soviets (Continued on Page Seven)

K of C Breakfasters
Warned of Red Peril
By Villanova Mentor

A warning against the dangers of Communist infiltration into American schools marked yesterday's Communion breakfast of Father Bally Council 1192, Knights of Columbus.

The speaker was Alex Severance, athletic director and coach of Villanova college, the institution he has been affiliated with for the past 23 years. He also is a past zone chairman of the 14th District of Lions, a K of C member and justice of the peace in Berwyn.

Severance began by pointing out that the topic of Communism in the U. S. was in high disfavor a few years ago, but now has become a central topic.

"Behind what appears to be a so-called 'crackpot' teacher," Severance asserted, "the great forces of evil may be working."

He cited examples of schools where Communism has been discovered to be at work, mentioning in particular City College of New York.

THE SPEAKER also defended the present draft law, although modified by a stand by asserting his opposition to the principle of universal military training.

Severance concluded by declaring, "The time for retreating is past. Here and abroad we must stand our ground."

At the breakfast, held in the Belmont restaurant, Peter J. Lawler, grand knight, announced that officers and degree team members will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the council's headquarters, High and Hanover streets.

In a so announced that the Casey Service club of the council will have nominations for officers at its first meeting, Oct. 10.

THE MEETING was preceded by the members' partaking of corporate communion at the 8 o'clock mass in St. Agnes Catholic church.

THE WEATHER
For Eastern Pennsylvania: Fair and continued cool today. Mostly clear, with some frost likely tonight. Partly cloudy and not quite so cool tomorrow.

PARIS, Oct. 3 (AP)—Western power delegates predicted tonight Russia will fight hard against putting the Berlin issue before the United Nations Security Council.

But these delegates said they were confident they could get enough votes in the council to open full debate on their charges that Russia is threatening world peace through the Berlin blockade. The council's first crucial meeting on the issue is set for 3 p. m. (9 a. m. Pottstown time) tomorrow.

The Russians indicated they would ignore any U. N. action and stand fast on their position. This probable preview of Soviet policy came in a long blast against the Western powers by Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky in Berlin.

Sokolovsky stressed that the whole German question and not just Berlin is involved. He made it clear that the price of any agreement is dissolution of the Western German state being set up by the United States, Britain and France. The marshal indicated the real reason that four-power talks over Berlin broke down was because the Western powers would not discuss that point.

REACTION OF WESTERN delegates to Sokolovsky's statements was speedy. One delegate said the issue is solely the blockade. He said the Russians are trying to drive out the Western powers by force and in so doing created a situation threatening the peace of the world.

This delegate further said the United States, France and Britain are ready to talk about the whole German question but not under force of a blockade or pressure.

The Western powers expect the first council meeting tomorrow to go this way.

U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin, October president of the council, will rap the gavel. He will propose the adoption of the agenda (calendar for the day), which includes only the Berlin question.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky then is expected to move the council not adopt the agenda, which means in court language throwing out the case.

The battle is expected to start then. Seven votes in the 11-nation council are needed to carry the day. (Continued on Page Seven)

Restaurant Fracas,
Tiff With Policeman
Costs Man $70 in All

Glenn Wisler, 26, of Freese Heights, paid a total of $70 in damages, fine and costs last night on charges of smashing a restaurant booth, tearing the proprietor's shirt, ripping the handle of a patrolman's blackjack and breaking the patrolman's watch.

He was arrested early yesterday in the Victory Sandwich shop, 24 South Hanover street, by Patrolman Harry Chrusch on charges of the proprietor, George Stanson.

Stanson told Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley, of the Second ward, that Wisler was one of a group causing a disturbance in the shop. When he remonstrated with him, he said, Wisler struck him, ripped his shirt and smashed a wooden booth.

When a waitress summoned Chrusch, the patrolman said, Wisler continued swinging, pulling the strap from his blackjack and breaking his watch crystal before he was removed to a patrol car.

WISLER FIRST said he would prefer a 30-day sentence to meeting the fine and damages, but a group of friends changed his mind and advanced the $70 for him.

The bill included $25 for repairs to the booth; $5 for Stanson's shirt; $20 deposit to cover repairs of the watch, and a $15 fine and costs for the drunk and disorderly charge preferred by Chrusch.

Stanson dropped an assault and battery charge upon settlement of damages.

Start of Jewish New Year Marked
By Prayer Service at Synagog

New Year's Eve, for the 5709th year of Jewish history since the day of creation, was celebrated quietly last night in Pottstown with an one-hour prayer service in Mercy and Truth synagog.

The service, beginning at 5:25 o'clock, sundown, marked the start of a ten-day period of repentance for Jews throughout the world. It will end with the fall of darkness on Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, on Oct. 13.

About 150, all men, attended last night's service. Rabbi Emil Schersch, who conducted the worship, explained that only men are allowed at evening services.

Women and children, he said, were at home preparing a special feast which is eaten at traditional time in the home after the evening worship on New Year's Eve and New Year's night.

In addition to recitation of prayers for sanctification of the day, apple and honey is eaten in the home as a symbol of a happy and prosperous year to come.

Government Troops Get Situation Under Control;
Fighting Still Continues

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 3 (AP)—Peruvian sailors and armed civilians backed by seized warships staged a rebellion early today at Callao, the port of Lima.

The government appeared to have the situation under control tonight, but fighting still continued at some points.

Government communiques issued this afternoon said focal points seized by the rebels—including the Peruvian Naval Academy, Naval Armory and Fort Royal Philip—had surrendered to loyal troops using tanks and planes.

However, an Associated Press reporter at the scene reported by telephone a handful of rebels with a cannon were still holding out.

The reporter said a large number of persons appeared to have been killed in the fighting. Ambulances were seen frequently crossing the streets to pick up the wounded.

THE LOYALISTS were preparing a final attack with an armored detachment supported by infantry troops against Rebel holdout positions in the vicinity of the Naval Armory.

A government communique this afternoon said the armory and fort had surrendered and that Comandante Jose Mosto, a leader of the uprising, had been arrested on board the cruiser Coronel Bolognesi. A subsequent communique said the rebels who had seized the academy also had surrendered and that the Loyalist superintendent, Rear Admiral Manuel R. Nieto, had resumed command. Insurgent sailors were reported arrested.

Latest reports tonight said that after the surrender of the fort a group of rebels, waving a white flag, ambushed and wounded infantry Capt. Alberto Leon Diaz who commanded the detachment which retook the fort. More than 400 prisoners were reported captured by the Loyalists at the fort.

The newspaper El Comercio said naval cadets fought bravely to launch the government's attack on rebels in the academy. Many Loyalist troops were reported wounded.

El Comercio said the cruiser Almirante Grau and the destroyer Villar, two of the vessels seized by the rebels to support their attack, had sailed into Callao bay to surrender.

A GOVERNMENT communique said "Latest investigations confirmed fully that the Aprista party (in opposition to policies of President Jose Luis Bustamante Rivero) inspired and directed the movement. Comdr. Enrique Aguilera Pardo, who is well known because of his Aprista leanings, headed the rebellion against some warships. The police detained numerous civilians who affiliate with the Aprista party, many of them arrested while armed, and whose participation in the revolt has been proved."

The government decreed a state of siege, similar to martial law, in mid-afternoon. Citizens were asked to return to their homes. The decree said any assemblies would be dispersed by force.

Police Pursue Clues
In Bechtelsville Case

The $1600 holdup of a Bechtelsville RD man Friday night remained unsolved over the weekend, but State police, Berks county detectives and Paul Kleinspahn, Berks town detective, were busy following several leads uncovered at the scene.

The victim, Laslo Kish, 76, was beaten brutal and robbed of his life savings, which were taken by two men from an iron safe at his small home near an isolated rural road north of Bechtelsville.

More than half of his home had been torn down to the foundations for remodeling, and Kish was living alone in a single 12-by-12 foot room with only one useable exit, facts of which the robbers may have been aware when they planned the act.

Police would not divulge the nature of the leads until they had checked their value.

Dry Air Hits Borough;
Frost Predicted Tonight

The air in Pottstown last night at sundown was drier than the average desert.

The 20 percent relative humidity was part of a big high pressure area which blew into town yesterday afternoon bringing bright skies and a mercury that never topped a nippy 62.

Frost is predicted tonight as the weather stays clear and cool today with warmer and partly cloudy tomorrow.

U. S. Schools Impress British Student Here

America's educational system and the wide variety of subjects taught in the schools is a source of amazement to Ronald P. Robinson, Norfolk, England, now studying at The Hill.

Winner of the 1948-1949 British and American Schoolboy Fellowship, Robinson is the 17-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Victor P. Robinson. He plans to study mechanical engineering at Cambridge university in the future.

The slender youth already has shown his scholastic proficiency. In 1945, he won a scholarship to Uppingham school, Rutland, England, and during the past three years has excelled in scholastic achievement.

At The Hill, he is continuing his study of physics, mathematics and French. In addition, he is studying political science and the humanities. The latter courses were the cause of his astonishment.

"IN ENGLAND," he explained, "we begin to specialize early. I started to concentrate on mathematics and physics when I was 15."

Keenly interested in British politics, he is particularly enthused with the political science course for the insight it offers into American government.

Claim Complaint Used As Pretense for Move

Locked out of their community hall, thirty-five tenants of Penn Village met on the hall steps Saturday afternoon.

Allen D. H. Field, president of the newly-formed Penn Village Tenants association, said the residents of the project had been "locked out of the hall" by order of Edmund J. Koser, executive secretary of the Montgomery county housing authority.

Koser relayed his order to Field by telephone the past Friday, Field declared, giving as the reason that the floor had been littered with cigarette butts after the tenants held their first meeting, Sept. 27.

"He had to have some excuse," Field declared angrily, "but he picked an awful slim one."

Field asserted that after the meeting of Sept. 27 he had offered to help the janitor clean up the floor, but that his offer had been turned down.

"There were plenty of ash trays around," the association president remarked, "and it wasn't as bad as Koser made out. But just to be on the safe side, we picked up every butt around the outside of the hall after our meeting Saturday."

SATURDAY'S MEETING was given over mostly to the reading of minutes, reports of bills and the explanation by Field of why and how the community hall was closed to the villagers.

At an informal meeting of the executive board yesterday afternoon in Field's home, 412 West Buttonwood street, other officers gave their opinions on the closing of the hall.

Declared Tom J. Bonta, secretary of the association, "We thought this would happen here, but we didn't expect it so soon."

Bonta and Field pointed out that at the Glenside homes project, Reading, the community hall had been closed to the tenants' association, but that action had been taken ten weeks after the group was formed.

Now, the Penn Village Tenants association members are looking for a meeting place in Pottstown. "We would welcome help from any group," the officers asserted yesterday. "Labor, veterans, religious, civic or any other organization."

"They have a temporary meeting place outside the homes project where they will gather again at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, but they declined to give the location of the hall at the request of the owners."

MRS. EDWARD Kuterbach, attending yesterday's meeting, declared, "We've met before in the Community hall and nothing was ever said about it. This just looks like a double-cross to us."

At the outdoor meeting Saturday afternoon, the association members passed a resolution asking Koser whether he had sought approval for a stay of the evictions scheduled to begin after the new year.

As a result of legislation by the special session of the 80th Congress, 45 high-income families in the Penn Village project must leave to make room for families whose incomes are within the prescribed limits.

Currently, those limits are $35 weekly for a family without children up to $46 weekly for a family with five or more children.

KOSER SAID he has applied for permission to raise the limits to a level which would allow approximately 26 of the 65 families to remain in their homes. The new level, however, would not apply to new tenants.

And, at a meeting of the county housing authority in Norristown the past Sept. 23, a request was made. (Continued on Page Seven)

Western Delegates See Little Hope for World Control of Atom Bomb

PARIS, Oct. 3 (AP)—Key western delegates are pretty well agreed today that Russia's sudden shift on the atom failed to advance perceptibly the prospects for agreement on international atomic controls.

Photographer Says Governor Folsom Ordered Beating

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 3 (AP)—A news photographer reported today he was manhandled and had about $50 worth of photographic equipment destroyed on instructions from Alabama's Gov. James E. (Big Jim) Folsom.

Brady Bynum, Columbus Ledger-Enquirer photographer, said the incident occurred after he snapped a picture of Folsom with a paper cup in his hand during the Auburn-Louisiana Tech football game at Auburn, Ala., yesterday.

Bynum quoted the governor as telling an Auburn police official that the photographer "sneaked up and took the picture and to get him (Bynum) out of here."

Before the officer came, Bynum said, Folsom asked him to tear the picture up. Bynum said he refused because he had to account for all his film.

FOLSOM TOLD three or four men with him, "I don't want that picture to go out of here," Bynum said. The men jumped him and one of them destroyed nine filmholders valued at about $5.25 each, the photographer added.

One of the men was identified as Nick Littlefield, a special investigator for Folsom.

At Montgomery, Folsom and Littlefield declined comment.

The shadow of the veto still covers the whole problem, as it has from the beginning.

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's proposal yesterday that atomic controls come into being at the same time represented no switch at all in the Russian attitude toward the Baruch plan for controls and inspection.

It represented, rather, a change in timing. Up to now, the Russians have stood firmly for outlawing the bomb first and then setting up controls. The United States, backed by other western powers, has stood just as firmly for controls first.

The general feeling among western experts today is that Vishinsky has made a proposal which will attract a lot of interest but which will not help much toward a solution of the basic issues involved.

THE UNITED STATES delegation issued a statement last night saying the Vishinsky proposal "fails to carry any assurance that the Soviet union is prepared to accept the central plan of the United Nations Atomic Energy commission."

This plan, first proposed in 1946 by the then American delegate Bernard M. Baruch, calls for an international atomic development authority with full powers of inspection, atomic research and all other phases of atomic energy.

Russia vetoed an attempt in the Security Council to get approval for the Baruch plan. Vishinsky carried the fight into the assembly committee here, charging it would permit espionage in the Soviet Union.

Accuse Congressman as 'Threat'

Representative Called 'Threat' To Bill of Rights

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—Three former Government attorneys charged today that Representative John McDowell (R-Pa.), acting chairman of the House committee on un-American activities, "attempts a single-handed effort to destroy the Bill of Rights."

A statement by the three replied to what they said was McDowell's "threat that he will recommend citations against us because we have challenged his committee's right to inquire into our political and religious beliefs."

The attorneys are: Lee Pressman, former Department of Agriculture and Works Progress administration attorney and former general counsel for the Congress of Industrial Organizations. He now is a candidate for Congress on the American Labor party ticket from the 14th New York Congressional district.

John Abt, formerly an attorney with the Department of Agriculture and the Works Progress administration. He now is general counsel for Henry A. Wallace's Progressive party.

Nathan Witt, formerly executive secretary of the National Labor Relations board, now engaged in private practice.

A joint statement by the three attorneys said McDowell's "threat" to recommend contempt citations against them "is typical of his unfair hit and run methods."

The attorneys said they had appeared before an executive session of the un-American activities committee at which they were present included Representative Richard Nixon (R-Calif.) and Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator for the committee.

Coal Production In France Periled By Strike Threat

DOUAI, France, Oct. 3 (AP)—It appeared tonight that French coal production will be halted completely tomorrow by a Communist-inspired general mine strike. The duration of the walkout still was uncertain.

The stoppage was ordered by the Communist-led National Federation of Miners. Today at nearby Lens the chief non-Communist union voted to join the strike. Some 335,000 miners will be affected by the walkout.

Communists have announced that the strike will be of "unlimited duration," but one union has agreed to stay out only two days.

The strike is the latest and most important in a series of work stoppages protesting the high cost of living, the unfavorable relation between French prices and wages, and the government's plan to discharge about eight percent of the employees in the nationalized coal industry.

Leaders of the workers' force group, the one voting at Lens today, would have preferred the workers not to assert outright that they would join the strike. Instead they would have liked them to merely refuse to cross picket lines.

STRIKE AVERTED PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3 (AP)—A threatened power strike scheduled to begin at 8 a. m. tomorrow was averted tonight when the Duquesne Light company and an AFL union agreed to arbitrate a new contract.

Rep. John McDowell (R-Pa.) (lower photo) has been accused by three former government lawyers, Nathan Witt (left), Lee Pressman (center) and John Abt (right) as attempting to single-handedly destroy the Bill of Rights.

Jews Oppose Any Plan Giving Up the Negev For Western Galilee

PARIS, Oct. 3 (AP)—Israel opposed today any plan for giving up the Negev in return for Western Galilee, saying it would make Trans-Jordan 10 times as large as Israel.

The Israeli delegation at the U. N. distributed a memorandum to the 58-nation political committee, for the General assembly declaring it will oppose any plan for separating the Negev—the desert area of Southern Palestine—from the new state.

The assassinated U. N. mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte, recommended that the Negev be given Arab Palestine and the Jews receive Western Galilee. The Negev was given to Israel in the U. N. partition plan of the past Nov. 29. There was no explanation why Israel mentioned Trans-Jordan in its memorandum, but informed sources have said Israel expects Trans-Jordan to be the ultimate beneficiary in any territorial swap.

China Called 'Decisive Area' In Struggle of East, West

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—China was described today by a Congressional committee as "the decisive area" in a world tug-of-war between Communist Russia and the democratic west.

The committee urged greater financial aid to China. It said: "The United States is the sole entity in the world today so endowed with political power that it could conceivably extend to China an effective guaranty of territorial and political integrity."

It also called for outright military assistance to the Chinese national government, mainly rifles and other "simple and rudimentary" equipment.

The group, a House foreign affairs subcommittee headed by Rep. Bolton (R-Ohio), said in a formal report:

"(China) is free in the sense that it is not wholly and directly a colony of any power. It is typical, and its choice (in world politics) will have an impact and set an example of overpowering weight. It is accessible to both sides."

"ITS INTERNAL BALANCE is easily overturned by any substantial intervention. Its fate will settle the fate of that half of humanity who live in the east."

The report was one of a series the subcommittee has made on Communism in various parts of the world. Other members of the group are Reps. Merrow (R-NH), Jackson (R-Calif.), Maloney (R-Pa.), Courtney (D-Tenn.), and Morgan (D-Pa.).

Russian intervention in China became possible when Russia entered the war against Japan in 1945, the report said. The Chinese national government was prevented by poor transportation facilities and Communist interference from disarming Japanese troops, and Japan was able to take over by the Chinese Communists.

"By the time the United States abandoned its efforts to secure a truce in China, and misguidedly to persuade the national government to accept a coalition with the Communists, the Communists were ready to renew the civil war with many times their former resources," the report said.

Efforts of the United States to arrange a coalition were "carried to extreme lengths beyond any historical parallel," the committee added.

Supreme Court to Rule Whether States May Ban Closed Shops

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Supreme court tomorrow opens a new term in which it has agreed to rule whether states may prohibit union closed shops.

That issue highlights probably the longest list of labor cases ever faced by the nine justices upon their return from Summer vacations. The list includes these legal puzzles:

May an employer give "merit raises" without first bargaining with a union? (A lower court says he may not.)

May an employer give pay increases for the purpose of holding his working force in a highly competitive labor market, without first notifying union officials? (A lower court says he may.)

Do the Taft-Hartley act and the railway labor act void a permanent injunction issued by the U. S. District court here the past July against a threatened nationwide railroad strike?

May unions require employers to bargain with them about pensions? (A lower court says they may.)

What about constitutionality of the section of the Taft-Hartley act which requires union officials to swear that they are not Communists? (A lower court says it is constitutional.)

A sharply-worded minority report, signed by the three Democratic members, called the majority's opinions "an indirect attack upon the great program of workers' recovery which the United States has been following since the war."

Armed Forces Taking Part in Huge Maneuvers

EGLEIN AIR FORCE BASE, Ill., Oct. 3 (AP)—The armed forces are polishing up the teamwork "red make it ready, it need be, for use in another."

Units of the fighting services—Army, Navy, Air and Marines—are down here on the edge of the gulf demonstrating methods. They are trying out, under field conditions, classroom theories on how future invasions or counter-invasion tactics should work.

They call it "Operation Combine III." The numerical designation shows this is the third time since the war that such refresher course studies have been made by the services.

TO GIVE THE WHOLE thing realism, the maneuvers are being played against a backdrop of a hypothetical diplomatic-military situation in which the governments of "Namora" and "Deluria" are at war. Because of the immensity of war, Namora has decided to attack Deluria, the plan being to split Deluria into two parts and capture the capital of Atlantis by land-sea air operations.

About 6500 men and virtually all the weapons used in such operations are in the training-demonstration course. (Observers from the armed forces are here to pick up some new points.)

A score of different types of planes are used—fighters, little and big bombers, troop carriers, gliders, the Navy's carrier-based aircraft.

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS fires claim lives of our citizens each year; and

WHEREAS many deaths from fires are those of children and the fires causing these deaths could be prevented by eliminating fire hazards; and

WHEREAS destruction of either industry, business or homes is a vital loss to our city; and

WHEREAS most of the states and many of the municipalities of the nation have, during the past year, organized and established facilities for more effective fire protection and fire prevention:

THEREFORE, I William A. Griffith, Burgess of Pottstown do hereby designate the week beginning October 3, 1948, as Fire Prevention Week.

I direct all the municipal agencies of the city governments, and particularly the fire departments and schools, to assist in arousing the public to the seriousness of the fire problem. I earnestly request every citizen to do his part in eliminating all possible cause of fire in his home or in his business. I urge that the school children of this community be given appropriate instructions to inspect their own residence, and that the fire department assist them in this effort.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of Pottstown to be affixed.

Three Oil Companies Reject Strikers' Bid To End Walkout

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3 (AP)—Three major oil companies rejected a conditional peace offer by striking CIO oil workers today and, at the same time, said they would not agree to rehire all of the strikers.

Standard of California, Union Oil and Shell made similar replies to the union offer.

O. A. (Jack) Knight, president of the CIO union, said the union had offered "concretely" to go back to work immediately.

The union proposed that workers be given the 12½ cent increase offered by the companies and the difference between that and the 21 cents demanded by the union would be submitted to arbitration. Knight suggested that Gov. Warren and acting Gov. Goodwin J. Knight be the arbitrators.

In disapproving the proposal, Standard said in a statement it "did not believe the unorthodox method suggested was a proper way to settle a general wage dispute."

"IN ANY EVENT, Standard could not agree to Mr. Knight's proposal that all strikers return to their jobs during the period of proposed arbitration. Some of the strikers have proven themselves unfit for work with the company by committing acts of personal violence against non-strikers as well as acts of sabotage to company property which endangered public safety," the statement added.

While expressing great respect for Warren and the acting governor, the statement noted that: "Orderly legal means are provided under the Taft-Hartley act whereby strikers may return to work when, in the opinion of the authorities, the continuance of the strike is endangering the public welfare."

THE UNION, WHICH originally demanded 21 cents, scaled its demand down to 19 cents during arbitration. The basic wage when the strike began was $1.68 an hour.

Companies struck beside Standard are Texas, Richfield, Union, Tide-water Associated and Shell.

The strike has been marked by sporadic outbreaks of violence both in the bay area and in Southern California.

2 Iowa Boys Die of Polio; One Is Second in Family

The victims were Larry Jorgensen, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Jorgensen of Thornton, Ia., and Dale William Brandhorst, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Brandhorst of Manning.

Dale was admitted to the hospital last Thursday, just five hours after the death of his brother, Ronald, 14.

The Naval mission here said the plane would come on here later today.

The Turtle covered about 5500 miles in an attempt to establish an inter-American distance record.

Chinese Government's Military Situation At Lowest Point Since Start of Civil War

PEIPING, Monday, Oct. 4 (AP)—The government's military situation is worse today than it has ever been since the start of China's civil war.

The Communists still have a long way to go to force Nanjing's collapse. But it's obvious that unless their present rate of progress is halted, the result will be fatal for Chiang Kai-Shek's regime.

Chiang returned here last night from Mukden. He flew there with Wei Li-Huang, his commander in chief in Manchuria, for an on the spot study of the situation. His decisions, if any, were not disclosed.

What broadly prompted Chiang's visit to North China was the list of Communist successes in the past two weeks.

Besides taking Tsinan, capital of Shantung province (next door to Nanjing), the Communists have punched big gains in the national corridor in Manchuria and on their drive in Inner Mongolia virtually closed North China's back door.

CAPTURE OF TSINAN helped the Communists establish a belt stretching from the Scantling peninsula to Inner Mongolia through Hebei and Shanxi provinces—in effect completing a vast encirclement would be completely bottled up with at best only an air bridge to Mukden.

The Communists then would be in position to divert strong forces from Manchuria for operations elsewhere. For instance: They could try to conquer all of Inner Mongolia. Or if it suited them better, move in strength across the great wall for a thrust at the very heart of North China—Peiping and Tientsin.

General Fu Tso-yi, top national commander in North China, has been pleading for months for more and better weapons. But requirements elsewhere have been given priority. This is one reason he has been unable to halt the Reds.

FIVE PROVINCES under Communist Pu embrace 400,000 square miles. By this time, however, the Communists must have well over half, including more than two-thirds of Hebei and nearly all of Shanxi.

Clamor Over Housing

A SHADE of meaning in a word often means a lot. A word's misuse often needs explaining.

For instance, the Associated Press strives to and largely succeeds in maintaining a high standard of objectivity in its reporting.

We were struck, however by an unconscious bit of editorializing by inference in a Washington dispatch the past week. It started out:

"Despite the clamor over housing, more American families own their own homes now than ever in history, a Federal Reserve Board survey reveals."

We don't know whether the word "despite" was introduced by the Federal Reserve Board or the Associated Press. But it was an ill-chosen word.

The outstanding fact about housing is the shortage, not of total units, but of units for rent. We are now in a great building boom, setting records for residential construction. But we are still not building rental units.

As the much-denounced real estate lobby has truthfully reported, rent-control helped to drive rented shelter off the market. There was no legal limit to the profit to be made on a sale, but the limits on rent sometimes prevented any profit at all from that kind of operation.

Under normal conditions, home ownership was an index of economic health. But now the picture is mixed. There are misgivings as well as rejoicings to be drawn from the fact that 49 percent of the nation's non-farm families now "own" their homes.

In many cases, the "owner's" equity is very thin and his obligation to pay is very long. Under those conditions, the owner is not much better off, if any, than the renter. Not until his equity is substantial does he feel the pride and security that are supposed to be the psychic dividends of possession.

Many a home owner on a thin margin would have preferred to remain a renter. He sometimes got no more spiritual satisfaction out of his down payment than would have resulted from kicking in the equivalent number of dollars as "side money" to an extortionate landlord.

We move to amend the AP dispatch to read:

"As might have been expected from the clamor over housing, more American families own their own homes now than ever in history."

Gov't Payroll Up 361 Percent

THE government payroll has increased 361 percent in the 16 years of the new deal.

On July 1 the civilian payroll of the executive departments stood at 2,063,455 against 571,171 in July 1, 1932.

The white house staff, for example, now numbers 892 compared with 45 in Hoover's time.

The Army has 401,972 civilian employees against 47,871 in 1932. In addition the air force has 121,103. It was part of the Army in 1932.

The increase in the Navy has been almost as spectacular—346,581 against 47,578 in 1932.

Every department except one shows an enormous increase in the number of employees on the payroll. The labor department shows a decrease because a number of agencies have been transferred.

The veterans administration has 196,858 employees compared with 33,885 16 years ago.

Even the postoffice department has increased from 279,436 to 498,415. The business of the department has increased but certainly not in that proportion.

There are scores of agencies that did not exist 166 years ago and all are growing like green bay trees.

The figures we have listed and the totals were taken from the records of the civil service commission. They do not include legislative and judicial employees or uniformed personnel in the Army, Navy and Air Force. Certainly, government reorganization is long past due.

Food — A Political Football

AN election year it is particularly difficult for the American people to obtain a straight story about the food situation.

They must realize that in this election year, political maneuvering will tend to diffuse the picture and not reveal the real facts in the situation. This places an added burden on the American people to study basic facts now, to evaluate what they hear, and keep their own sanity clear. Only enlightened citizens can save us from the disastrous effects which might result if the people are not alerted at this time.

Deprived of Rightful Freedoms, Penn Villager Writes

Hall's Use Denied Tenants

To the Editor: The tenants of Penn Village have formed an organization and we held our first meeting on Monday night in the community hall in Penn Village.

Now, today we are told we may not use the community hall any more, as we left our eggs on the floor.

We have a janitor, or are supposed to have one, who was up at the meeting that night to open up the hall for us. Nothing was told about us cleaning up, or else we women would have stayed and cleaned up.

What grates me is that this is supposed to be a free country and freedom of speech and freedom of assembly are supposed to be our rights as free Americans.

Not only are they trying to erect a wall between us and our rights, but now they are also taking these privileges away from us Penn Village tenants.

Nurses Must Take It

To the Editor: Five years ago I encouraged my daughter to go in training to become a nurse, then I saw only the glamor of the uniform. But since then my eyes have been opened and sometimes I'm sorry she is a nurse.

Recently, she had a promotion. We were very happy about this and congratulations came from every side. However, the following week when she came home on her day off, she was quite disheartened.

First, the increase in salary is only $5 a month. Second, the responsibility and headaches rest on her. Third, they are short-handed.

My daughter is the conscientious type and will pitch in to get finished instead of waiting for help when heavy lifting has to be done. Consequently, she strained her back.

I know what I'm talking about — a nurse's life is "no snap." She is not supposed to talk back to patients or doctors. I wonder how many of us could take what she does. We should try to imagine ourselves in her place.

Another thing I have learned since my daughter has become a nurse is — a nurse is not entirely a social security. This certainly is not fair, so I would like to suggest if we want to do something really worth while, to repay the nurses for their untiring efforts, write to our Congressmen to speak in behalf of our nurses, to try to get this bill passed as soon as possible.

Worried About Opera House

To the Editor: Can you tell me what has happened to the plan for the borough purchase of the old opera house?

Not too long ago some of the councilmen were quite concerned about how everyone felt about buying the property and what to do with it after it was bought. Then all of a sudden when the cry of "Politics" was tossed into the debate, a curfew of silence fell with a thud.

I'm in favor of a community center there some day. I would have to see someone steal it out from under the borough nose and start something like a greasy there.

Not Like Wilmington Girls

To the Editor: I just moved here from Wilmington, Del., a few months ago and it may be ungentlemanly of me to say so but I think the girls of Pottstown are not much on looks.

Down in my home town you can walk down practically any street and never go more than a block without running into at least one good-looking girl. This applies even on rainy days.

In the several months I have been in Pottstown I have been walking around the streets practically every day and I could count the number of good-looking I have seen on the fingers of one hand.

Either the girls are wearing those odd-looking black conners on the backs of their heads or they're wearing run-down bobbiy sox clothes and they all have faces to match.

It's enough to make me want to go back to Wilmington.

JACK

More Comfort, Less Show at 'Y'

To the Editor: Now that there has been one chance made at the YMCA, with Jimmy Baird as "head man," I think now is a good time for me to get some other changes off my chest which I would like to see made.

Maybe it is none of my business, even though I have lived there for several years, but it seems to me if the YMCA gets money from the public, it should set public criticism, just like anything else.

In the first place, how about the directors stopping spending money on the lobby and start spending it where it will do more good, like on the rooms.

After all, the lobby is already big enough to go deer-hunting in, and for all the use most of it is put to, it might as well be made into a deer preserve.

And while I am at it, let me tell them it is nice time to but some more doors to use to get out of the upper floors.

In conclusion, in the past, too much money has been spent on things that might impress strangers, now how about spending some money for the men who have been paying their way for these many years?

WASHINGTON

Baruch 'Dun' Believed Gross Truman Mistake

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 — Although Bernard M. Baruch, perennial "brain trust" and "angel" for Democratic Administrations and the Democratic party, apparently does not intend to contribute to the Truman re-election fund, he has promised friends on Capitol Hill that he will support them financially.

He is keenly interested in Democratic control of the Senate because of his concern with the foreign problems that may confront the next upper chamber.

Mr. Truman's petulant letter to the venerable financier, berating him for not having kicked into the National committee's treasury, was almost as fatal a mistake in its way as was his description of the Congressional Communist expose as a "red herring."

It shocked the Missourian's closest friends and advisers, who would have warned against it if he had discussed the move with them in advance.

The President charged Mr. Baruch with ingratitude, in view of the favors which this Administration had showered on the New Yorker. The fact is that the only reward in that direction was the promotion of Herman B. Baruch, a younger brother to the ambassadorship at Lisbon. But the diplomatic member of the family is a career man, and regarded as one of the best.

DESPERATION: In fact, despite "Barney" Baruch's prominence in the Roosevelt Administration, it is he who was always the creditor. He served as P. D. R.'s "troubleshooter" time and time again especially in formulating a program for manufacture of synthetic rubber. He frequently pacified Capitol Hill friends, where he has always been a great favorite, when they exploded over Mr. Roosevelt's political or economic vagaries.

Indeed, Mr. Baruch's friends say that he has spent many of his own millions for Democratic Presidents since the days of Woodrow Wilson. In handling World War I and World War II problems, he has contributed his time and services, as well as those of an extensive research staff. He has never taken a penny from the government, and he has paid all his expenses.

How the normal, kind and thoughtful Harry S. Truman could select such a man for an "Er tu, Barney" letter is beyond the understanding of Washington. It is generally interpreted as evidence of personal and political desperation.

SYMPATHIZE: Mr. Baruch has not, as of now, dignified the presidential rebuke with a reply or a public statement, explaining his failure to put up some badly needed cash. But old associates here advance the explanation that he does not sympathize with the Administration's Civil Rights program.

It is not that the financier does not believe and battle for the fundamental principles of political and economic equality for he has given generously to such movements. But it is thought that he looks upon the present program as politically inspired, and feels that it will work more evil than good.

STANDARDS: Although it is not generally realized, Mr. Baruch has a Southern background and connections, and he knows Dixie's problems at first hand. He spends many months in the Carolinas.

His intimates on Capitol Hill for years were the late Pat Harrison of Mississippi, the late Joe Robinson of Arkansas, Walter F. George of Georgia, John Nance Garner of Texas. He has honorary degrees from half a dozen of the South's leading universities. Herman was born in Camden, S. C.

Moreover, Mr. Baruch sets such standards of accomplishment, efficiency and exactness for himself that it is doubtful whether he could bring himself to give his approval to the present Administration, even though he sympathized with many of its aims.

THE TYRONE POWER-Linda Christians wedding plans, which were definitely set for September 13—white wedding dress, church and all—were called off because the Archbishop of Los Angeles had notified the Vatican that by marrying in Italy, Ty and Linda would be flouting the laws of the State of California, and the Vatican refused to sanctify the marriage under those conditions.

Pastor's Two Children Victims of Smoke Fumes

DUBUQUE, Ia., Oct. 3 (AP)—Two children were found dead here today in the smoke-filled study of St. Mark's Lutheran church, where their father was minister.

The children were Mark Tinkert, 4, and his sister, Jeanne, 2½.

Their father, the Rev. Max Tinkert, said he had just returned from making visits at the hospitals when he smelled smoke coming from the study.

The minister said he did not know the children were in the study, and called the fire department without opening the study door.

Firemen found that a small fire had ignited the minister's vestments and had filled the room with dense smoke. They stumbled on the bodies of the two children as they entered.

Efforts by a fire department in-hauler squad to revive the children were unsuccessful.

Interne Aids in Dramatic Rescue

As dramatic as any second act curtain is this New York rooftop scene showing members of a police emergency squad engaged in the strenuous task of hoisting to safety Edward Sullivan, who had fallen two stories. Hero of the occasion was Dr. Dario Vaccino (in white), a hospital interne, who was making his last run. With acrobatic agility, Dr. Vaccino made a one-story drop to reach the patient. Putting Sullivan, who was seriously hurt, in a stretcher and body bag, the interne had the injured man hoisted as shown, to the roof from which he fell.

The funds will finance recovery procurement in eight countries of western Europe, western Germany, Trieste, The Netherlands East Indies and China.

Donald Kaas Weds Kathryn C. Schanda In Catholic Nuptials

In a lovely church ceremony in Philadelphia recently, Mr. Donald G. Kaas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Kaas, 223 King street, took as his bride, Miss Kathryn C. Schanda, Philadelphia, daughter of Mrs. Frank Schanda, New Market, N. H.

The double ring ceremony was performed in St. Patrick's Catholic church with the Rev. Maurice Horn, rector, officiating. The church was decorated with chrysanthemums and red roses flanked with palms.

Preceding the nuptial service, a recital of wedding music was presented by Miss L. A. Berk, organist, and Mr. John Smith, vocalist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Frank Schanda, was charming in a gown of garconia-toned slipper satin, fastened with sweetheart neckline and fitted bodice with long leg-of-mutton sleeves. An applied inset formed a design at the waistline where the extremely full skirt was joined to the bodice. The skirt flowed into an eight foot circular train. At her throat, she wore a single strand of pearls.

HER VEIL WAS of chapel length, in illusion net banded with deep Chantilly lace edging and fell from a tiara crown encrusted with seed pearls, an importation from Switzerland, as a special gift of the bride's mother. She carried a shower spray of gardenias, interwoven with white pompons and garconia-toned satin ribbon.

Attending as matron of honor was Mrs. Mildred Weller, sister of the bridegroom. She was attired in a steel blue satin gown designed with portrait neckline, cap sleeves and fitted bodice. This was attached to a very full flowing skirt. She wore a sweetheart open crowned bonnet of matching material and carried a spray of peach roses and baby mums.

Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy French, Miss Lena Principessa and Miss Frances Collia. They all appeared in gowns of dusty rose designed exactly like that worn by the matron of honor. All carried floral sprays of Tallman roses and white baby mums, and wore mits and sweetheart bonnets of materials matching their gowns.

SERVING AS junior bridesmaid was Miss Barbara Houck, niece of the bridegroom, who appeared in a gown of light maroon satin, fastened with square neckline, fitted bodice and a sash tied at the back of the gown. The skirt was full and long. She wore a matching sweetheart bonnet and carried a spray of yellow roses and white baby mums.

Mr. Thomas P. Kaas Jr., served his brother as best man, while the ushers were the Messrs. William Cauffman, Norman Haddad and Donald Meyer.

Mrs. Kaas, mother of the bridegroom, chose a dress of black crepe with matching accessories and orchid corsage. Mrs. Schanda, mother of the bride, was unable to attend the wedding, due to illness.

A dinner and reception followed the nuptials in the Redman's hall, Philadelphia, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to New York city. For traveling the bride chose a continental green suit with half hat of feathers and matching accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses. The couple will reside in their newly erected and furnished home at Glensville.

Mrs. Kaas was graduated from Boston High school and the Boston Hospital School of Nursing, later taking a degree at the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia. She served with the WAVES for two years and until her marriage was medical secretary to Dr. Solomon Borrelli in Philadelphia.

The bridegroom was graduated from Boyertown High school and served for four years in the Navy. He is now employed at the Spicer Manufacturing company.

WEDDINGS

Sleeve Interest

Many a dress carries its smartness and fashion interest on its sleeve. Bright sleeve interest is at its best in the creation of slim black wool which buttons crisply along a raglan line to one bright sleeve of glowing red, deeply cuffed and gold-embroidered in an heraldic design. This is a nice frock for general daytime wear on its own now, with fur or under a coat later.

Down on the Farm

A few years back one of those book-writing Vassar girls (nice looking Number judging from the book jacket) came out in print to prove that fashion is spinach. Now I'd like to make the point that vice versa is true—Spinach is Fashion.

Our Seabrook Farms spinach sales are up 650%—that's all, folks.

There's only one trouble with spinach. Too many good friends! When well meaning characters start passing the word around about how spinach is good for you, has iron in it... well who wants to eat iron? Who wants to look lumpy like Popeye? Or have a girl friend with a face like Olive?

It's my idea that we ought to convince the public that spinach is maybe a little too good to be good for you—like cigarettes or champagne.

Maybe we ought to promote Spinach Prohibition. Make spinach a strictly under-the-counter proposition! In order to get spinach you would have to know somebody who knew somebody. Then if you sidled up and told him you were having a few people in that evening... and of course you couldn't think of having a party without spinach...

That's not so far-fetched either, friends. As a company vegetable, spinach takes the whole pack of aces.

Now you take that tender, emerald-green, deep crinkled, beautiful spinach that we pick, pack and freeze at Seabrook Farms, N. J.

Make a nice, round hillock of cooked spinach and crown same with the gold and white of chopped eggs. Pass the vinegar cruet, please—or make yourself a fine, tart garlicky French dressing.

Or take your spinach neat under a swoosh of sour cream... mmmmm. There, friends, is greenery for you... which is some eating!

BEATRICE FAIRFAX'S

Advice to the Lovelorn
In Love With Her Brother-in-Law

"I AM a young, unhappy wife of a drunkard," a pathetic letter begins, and then goes on to say: "He is a selfish, irresponsible and neglectful husband as well as a cruel father to our two-year-old twins. He has an unmarried brother who for the past two years has been supporting us. I have fallen in love with this brother, despite my efforts not to do so. He wants to marry me, but I am afraid to tell my husband because in a fit of temper he might do something drastic."

"What shall I do?"

THERE ARE NOT very many human problems in which the solution is clear. Most of them are so complicated, and there are so many things on each side to be considered, that it is not easy to know just what the wise thing to do may be.

In this case, however, I think the solution is fairly apparent. I see no reason at all why this young wife should not rid herself of a husband who seems not only utterly useless, but dangerous as well, and take the chance that has offered itself for a happier life.

If her husband showed the least sign of a desire to mend his ways, accept his responsibilities as husband and father, and make his home a happy place in which to rear his family, it would be one thing. But there is nothing whatever in this letter to indicate that he is anything at all but a liability and a burden and a menace, and has no intention of being anything else. That being so, his wife is not only fully justified, but well advised, to leave him and start again, especially with a man who has already generously assumed the responsibility for herself and her children.

The difficult thing, of course, as the letter suggests, is to leave the one man and marry the other without possible tragedy of one sort or another.

In order to take every possible precaution to forestall any tragic occurrence, and also because if there is to be a divorce she will need legal advice anyhow, I think the first step this woman should take is to consult a good lawyer. Perhaps she and her husband's brother, who has been supporting the family, could go together to the lawyer and tell him the whole story. She should be very careful, however, that she chooses a reputable lawyer, and runs no risk of placing herself in the hands of a charlatan. She must get in touch with the Legal Aid society and ask to be referred to some good lawyer in whom she could have full confidence.

Spring City High Trounces West Pottsgrove Foe, 44-14

A crippled West Pottsgrove High football team scored twice against Spring City Saturday afternoon but the Pirates scored seven touchdowns against the Falcons for an easy 44-14 triumph Saturday afternoon on the West Pottsgrove field.

A throng of 600 fans saw Coach Gene Grot's Pirates score in every period against the Falcons, who were weakened by injuries to two star backs in the West Reading game a week ago.

The visitors scored first in the opening period marching 60 yards to reach paydirt with Jim Bell crashing into the end zone from the one-yard line.

IN THE SECOND stanza, Spring City added two touchdowns for a 19-0 lead at halftime. Earl Nelson scored the first of the touchdowns on a line buck from the one to climax a 40-yard drive. Phil Carl added the extra point via a place-kick. Carl came back a few minutes later for six more points as he plowed through the West Pottsgrove line from the one-foot line to score.

Taking to the air in the third frame, Spring City scored again. Jim Renschler passed to Bob Mull for the touchdown on a play that covered 35 yards. Renschler then passed to Carl for the extra point to make it 26-0. Late in the same period, Renschler scored himself on an end run from the 15-yard line.

Spring City made it 38-0 in the fourth period when Charles Pinkbinder intercepted Joe Doris's pass and raced 22 yards to score. Nelson added an second touchdown of the day in the same period on a 10-yard end run to give the Pirates a 44-0 lead but the Falcons struck back fast for two scores before the game ended.

Doris passed to Al Stauffer on the West Pottsgrove 35-yard stripe and Stauffer raced 65 yards for a touchdown. Doris plunged over for the extra point.

A few minutes later, Doris took Terry Taschner's punt on his own 11-yard stripe and raced 89 yards to score standing up.

Wallace Hits Warren For Stand Taken on Corporation Farming

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Oct. 3 (P)—Henry Wallace carried his presidential campaign into the fertile central valley of California tonight with a blast against large-acreage corporation farming and a charge that Gov. Earl Warren "is playing both sides of this question."

Wallace, in a speech prepared for delivery at the Sam Lynn ball park, said of Warren, the Republican candidate for vice president:

"He came out bravely for the family-sized farm, and then added that he was afraid it wouldn't work in the central valley."

Wallace, running on the Progressive party ticket, said the corporation farm interests, if they can, will kill the present 160-acre limitation on farms receiving irrigation benefits. Wallace said "poverty stalks this valley of plenty."

HE DECLARED THAT the California governor, "in his cozy little rear platform chats along the campaign trail," has been boasting that California's way of life is the envy and the model of the world."

Then Wallace said: "I hope he was not referring to the way of life of the workers on the corporation farms. Here whole families live in unlighted, unheated, one-room shacks. Thirty-five families share a cold water shower, and the only sanitary facilities are evil-smelling outdoor privies."

Wallace made an attack on Joseph Di Giorgio, whom he called the largest grape, plum and pear grower in the world, owning over 26,000 acres in this valley.

The candidate took the side of members of the AFL National Farm Labor union who struck for union recognition on the Di Giorgio ranch more than a year ago.

WALLACE SAID the Bank of America "advanced the Di Giorgio interests $1,000,000 with which to fight this strike."

Wallace said the Progressive party program "can end poverty in the valley of plenty" and that this program includes:

Protection for permanent farm workers with respect to public housing, water supply, and roads; low-rate public housing for migratory farm workers; vigorous enforcement of health, safety and sanitation laws covering farm labor camps; early completion of the central valley project; extension of unemployment insurance to cover all workers, and public ownership of all public utilities in California.

19 Out of 45 Known Dead On Capsized Flying Boat

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 3 (P)—The Norwegian airlines said today 19 persons, including three children, are definitely known to have perished in the capsizing of a giant flying boat at Hommelvik, near Trondheim.

Efforts to refloat the sunken Sandringham four-engine craft were made today, but had to be called off because of bad weather. Airlines officials said a check showed there were 45 persons aboard the plane when it sank yesterday about 700 yards offshore.

Earl Bertrand Russell, British philosopher, was among those rescued.

Accident Costs Her Eye, Girl Awarded $33,000

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 3 (P)—The loss of her left eye is going to bring a little girl from Shrewsbury an education—if her determination matches her courage.

Judith Ellen Wood, 5, was permanently blinded in one eye last Nov. 17 when she was struck by an automobile. Friday, a superior court jury returned a $33,000 verdict in her favor.

Judith Ellen said today she would save the money for her education.

Animals Go to Church On Eve of Feast Of Saint Francis

HEREFORD, Eng., Oct. 3 (P)—The animals came to church here today, and they sat very solemnly as they heard a church of England clergyman say there is a very good chance they will go to heaven. They will have to be good, of course.

The extraordinary occasion for such piety in the animal kingdom was a special service at the Holy Trinity church on the eve of the feast of St. Francis, the patron saint of the animals.

Children of the community were invited to bring their pets. So, well behaved and decorous among the worshippers were:

Dozens of cats and kittens, some pretty with starched ribbons. A tiddler in a jar—a tiddler being an English version of a sunfish. Ducks, chickens and guinea pigs. A lamb with fleece only slightly soiled, accompanied by eight-year-old Mary Hyde.

Dogs, of course, including a bull mastiff and a tiny poodle.

A white mouse, which made some of the little girls nervous, was brought by six-year-old Philip Parsons.

The twenty horses, brushed sleek for the occasion, were seized up by the head usher, who came to the solemn decision that they were too big for the pews. So they had to wait outside.

Boy, 6, Kills Brother In Comic Book Fight

NEW CASTLE, Oct. 3 (P)—Lawrence County Coroner Charles Allen reported a six-year-old boy this morning shot and killed his brother, 10, in an argument over a comic book.

The victim was George Lee Nail, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nail of Clifton Platts, a New Castle suburb. He was shot in the head with a 12-gauge shotgun and died at New Castle hospital at 10 a. m., less than three hours later.

Allen identified the younger brother as Samuel Thomas Nail. He said the argument arose from George's wish to trade the comic book with a neighbor boy, and Samuel's protests that he had not yet seen the book.

The shooting occurred in the bedroom the boys shared, Allen said, after their father, a steelworker, had ordered George to bed to end the argument. Allen said the father told him he had kept the shotgun unloaded in his own bedroom and the shells hidden in a vase.

District Attorney Leroy K. Donaidson said Samuel was hysterical and could not be questioned. He said the case will be turned over to juvenile court.
